

I think the No-Call law and listing that was created by the state of Indiana is the best thing our government has ever done for its citizens. The tremendous amount of calls from telemarketers had become very annoying and we could not enjoy an evening at home without constant ringing from the telephone. I even paid $200 for a phone with vocal caller ID so I did not have to walk across the room when the phone rang only to have the call be classified as "Unavailable". We went from over 40 calls a week from "Unavailable" sources to less than 10. Please do not change the process used in Indiana in regards to the No-Call listing. This would be a great disservice to all the citizens who enjoy and embrace this protection from unwanted calls. If I want service from a current or former company I have done business with it would be my decision to contact that company not to have that company harass me with constant unwanted attention.

Thank you for your time and please consider the thoughts and desires of all Americans not just a few who chose to do business over the phone.

Teresa Miller